An appellation (statement of identity) long eclipsed by the reputation of neighbouring appellations, the Chorey-Lès-Beaune takes its place in the sun among the Burgundians appellations. Pascal Gay, the son of François, offers this ruby-colored (with young highlights) pinot noir.

The impression of youth is confirmed by the nose with its primary aromas of cherry and licorice.

Remarkably structured, the mouth is pleasant and accompanied by light, not-bitter tanins.

Serve at 15°C with grilled veal chops.
